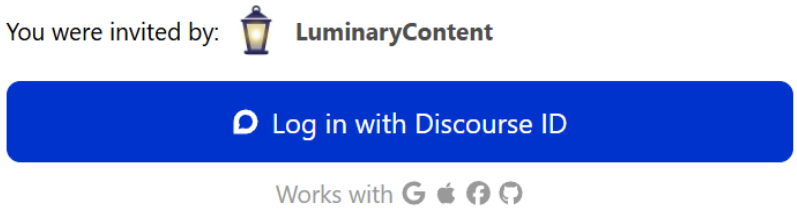
North Dakota Digital Accessibility Online Space

The North Dakota Digital Accessibility Space is the online hub for the collaborative effort among the ND Insurance Reserve Fund (NDIRF), the ND League of Cities (NDLC), and the ND Association of Counties to provide training and information to help the state's political subdivisions make online content and systems accessible. It is a private space for local government staff, and the following instructions explain how to sign up for access.

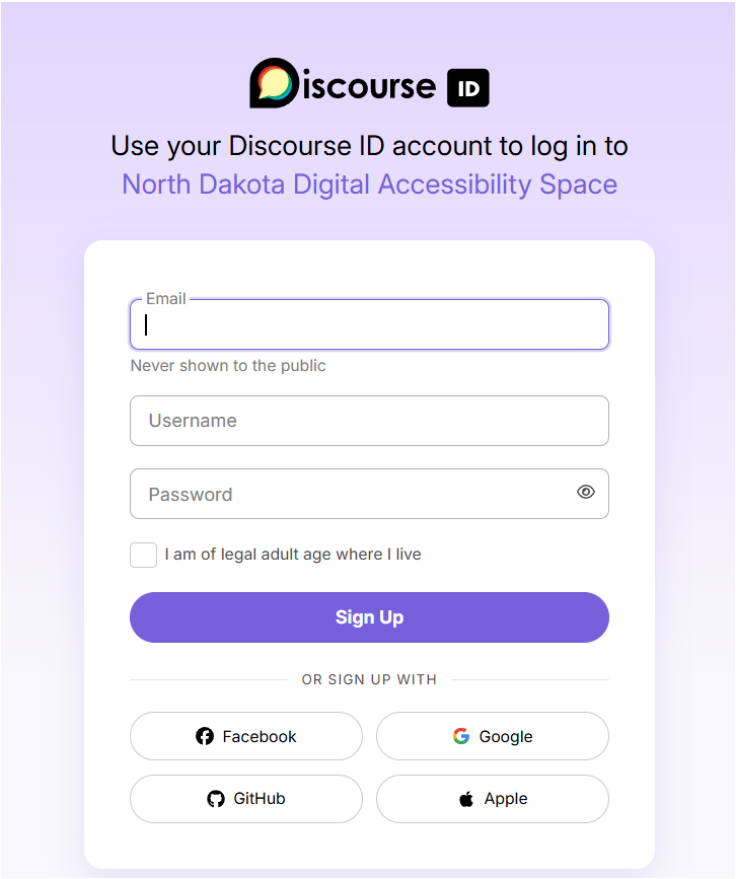
Sign Up

Click the following link or paste it into your web browser - Invitation - North Dakota Digital Accessibility Space

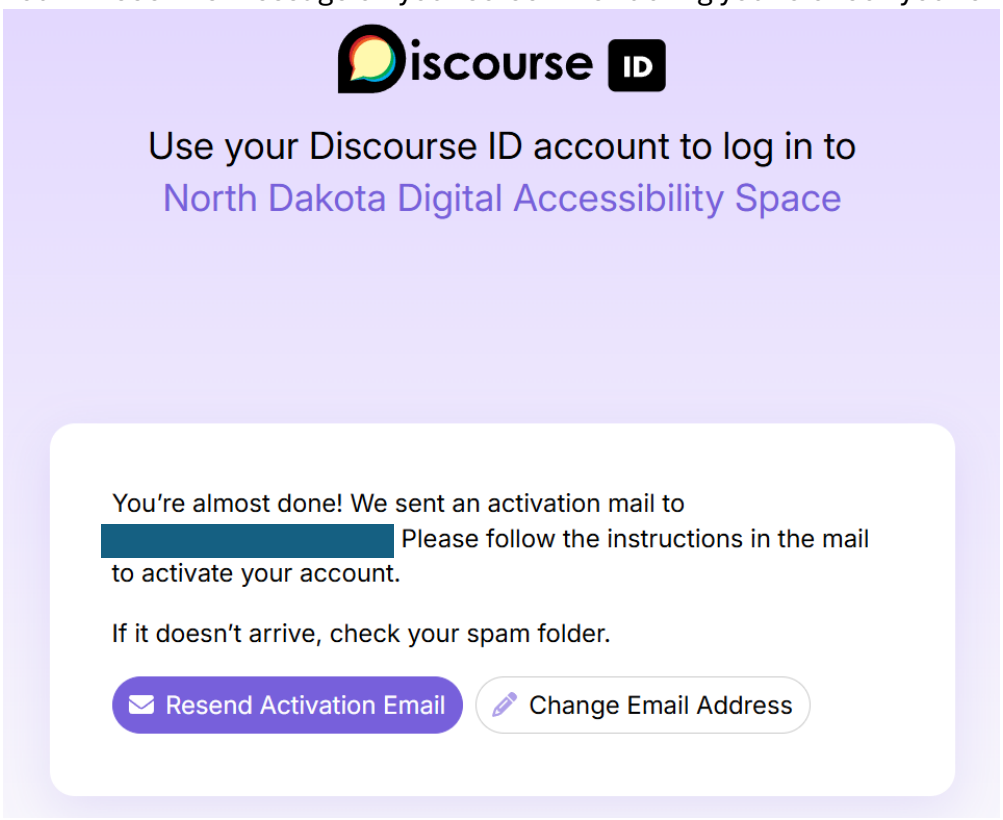
1. You will see the following message. Click the Log in with Discourse ID button.



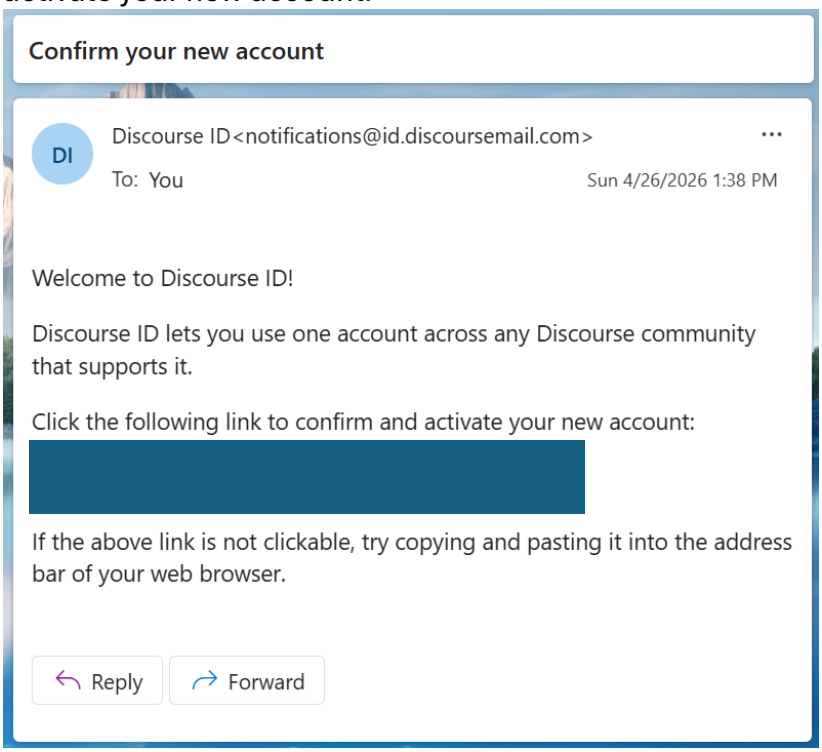
2. The next screen is to set up your Discourse ID, if you don't already have one. Since this space is being set up for your work, it is recommended you use your work email.



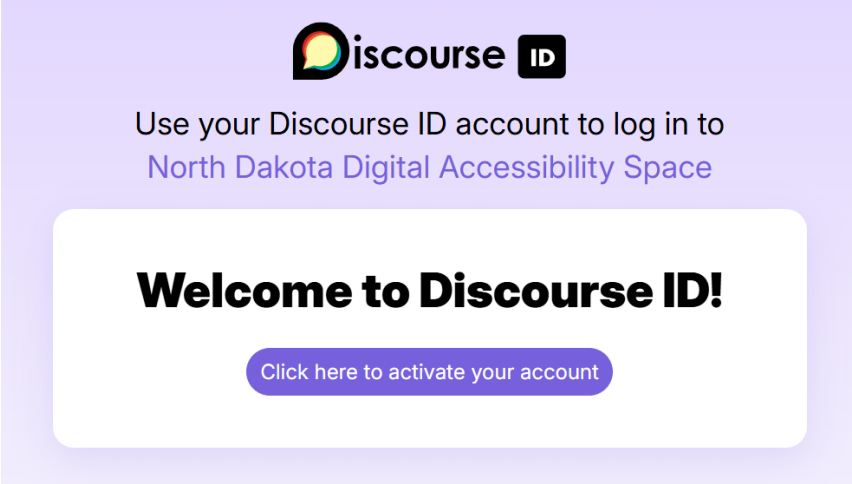
3. You will see this message on your screen instructing you to check your email.



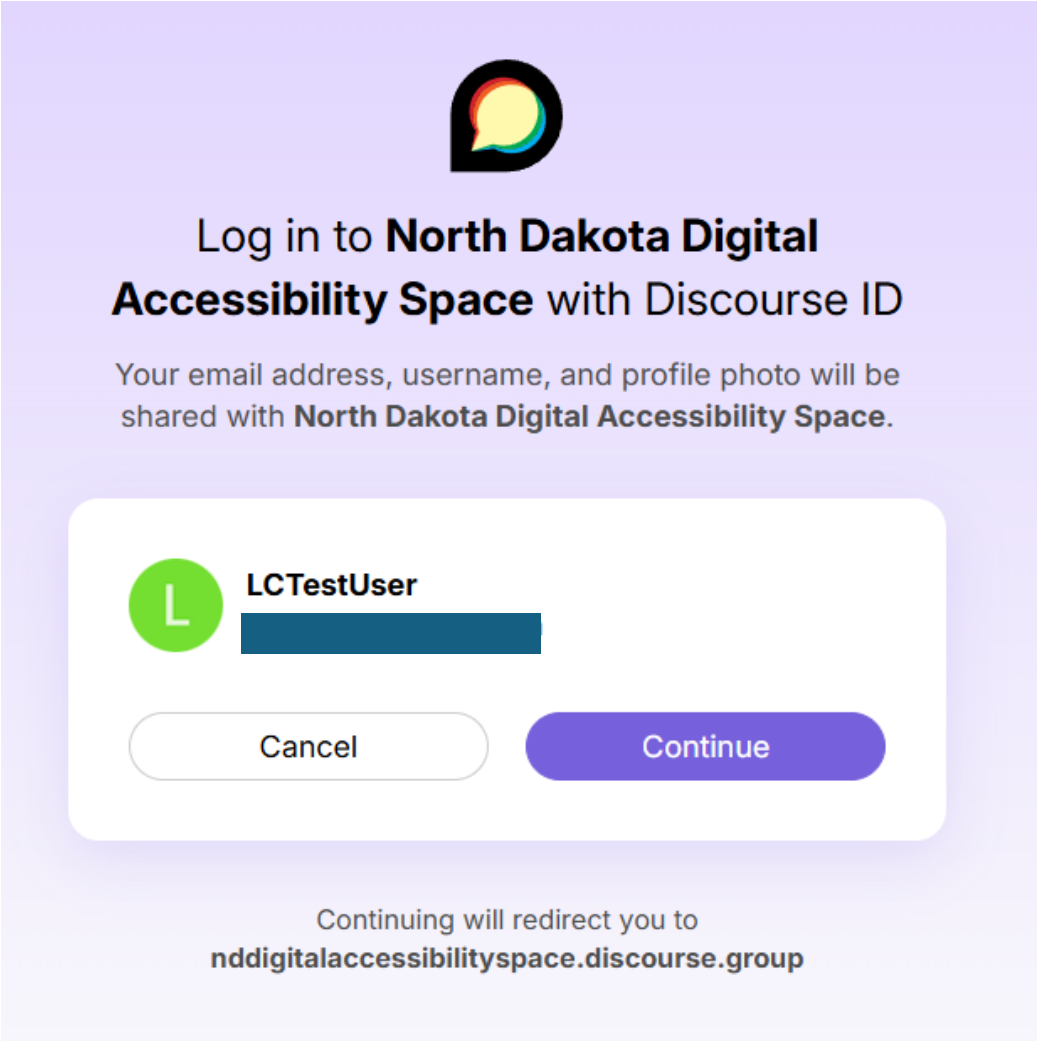
4. The email you receive should will be sent from "Discourse ID" with a subject line of "Confirm Your New Account," and contain a link for you to click to confirm and activate your new account.



5. After clicking the link you will be taken to this screen to activate your account.



6. After activating your account, click the Continue button to access the site for the first time.



Login Link to Use After Sign Up

HINT: Bookmark or Favorite this! - https://nddigitalaccessibilityspace.discourse.group